

Whatever pride there may have been of birth it was tempered by humility, the chief characteristic of a minister of the Gospel of Christ. It was no easy role to fulfil and certainly one that might well have estranged him from ordinary folk, but he used his talents and possessions that God had given him in such a way that everyone rich and poor, young and old loved him.

Now there steps into that long line of ancestry another Wrey, taking over the leadership and responsibility that such a position demands, said the Archdeacon.

The Archdeacon said he had been asked to convey to the family, the sympathy of the Bishop of Exeter who had been only prevented from attending by urgent business at the House of Lords.

The family mourners were Miss Isabell Wrey, sister, Sir Richard Bouchier Wrey, nephew and Lady Wrey. Mrs Castell Wrey, (Horwood) sister in law. Mr Christopher Wrey (London) representing Mrs Roy Wells (Wokingham) niece, Miss Dorothy Dene (Horwood). M & R Balsdon (Barnstaple) representing Mrs Heseltine, sister in law and Lady Willoughly de Broke, niece.
